Popular Education & Collective Learning Model

“In the context of social injustice, education can never be politically neutral. If it does not side with the poorest and marginalised sectors- the 'oppressed' – in an attempt to transform society, then it necessarily sides with the 'oppressors' in maintaining the existing structures of oppression, even if by default.” – Kane, Liam (2001) Popular Education and Social Change in Latin America

- Popular education is a concept grounded in notions of class, political struggle, and social transformation.
  - We are all teachers, and we are all learners.
  - Everyone is a resource of knowledge as a result of her/ his life experience.
  - In order to make our communities healthier and better places to live, it is essential that we all work together. We need everyone’s collective knowledge, learning, skills, opinions, and ideas to create healthy, equitable and just communities.

Barriers/Challenges to Community Engagement

- Addressing COVID-19 related challenges, including virtual meetings as it relates to community engagement and resident leader recruitment.
  - Ensuring community ownership and participation, from program planning through program implementation and evaluation.
  - Understanding of and inclusion of existing (legacy) programs, including community networks and resources.
  - Providing incentives for community engagement and participation.
